

Rush Alums Todd Dunivant and Colin Clark will lead their teams, LA Galaxy and Houston Dynamo respectively, in tonight's MLS Cup Final. LA finished the regular season with the top record in the MLS while Houston finished in second place in the Eastern Conference. The teams split the season matchup with both winning their home game. Both the Galaxy and Dynamo have won the MLS Cup twice in its history and both look for their third title tonight at 9:00pm Eastern on ESPN.

Dunivant, named to the MLS Best XI team last week anchors a stout defense while Clark patrols the midfield for the Dynamo. Both players spent their youth careers playing with the Colorado Rush.