

Camryn Dyke of the Colorado Rush is at the U14 National Camp this week in Carson, California. The U14 program has shifted its focus from past years where 80-100 players were brought in for one large camp, to several smaller camps much like the one this week at the Home Depot Center. Camryn and the rest of the players in camp this week are all born in 1998 and will be overseen by U.S. Soccer Director of Women's Development Jill Ellis and U15 Girl's National Team Head Coach Damon Nahas.
