

Montreal Impact Defender and Colorado Rush alum Jeb Brovsky has been named the MLS Humanitarian of the Month for March!

In January, Jeb and his newlywed wife Caitlin traveled to Guatemala with HANDS, a non-profit organization Jeb has been a part of since his time at the University of Notre Dame. While in Guatemala, Jeb spent his time handing out soccer balls and t-shirts and speaking out against domestic violence, which is quite common in Guatemala.

The award marks the second time Brovsky, 24, has won the MLS Humanitarian of the Month award.